From Reactive to ProActive

LANsultants has relied on various remote access tools to monitor our clients' networks, perform maintenance and install upgrades. With the growing complexity of our clients' systems, relying on manual methods are no longer appropriate, except for the most simple networks. Over the next few months LANsultants shall be deploying N-Able's N-Central Remote Monitoring and Security Event Manager. This system will automatically alert us when your network shows symptoms of malfunction. This will improve your office productivity by helping us resolve problems before they interfere with your firms' productivity.

Among other things, this system will tell us if your virus definitions and service patches are up to date, if disk space is adequate, if the backup operation and MS-Exchange are operating properly, etc..These are just a few of this products broad monitoring capabilities.

Depending upon your computer systems' complexity and monitoring needs, costs will range from $25 to $300/month. The great majority of our clients will fall in the $100/month range. Since this monitoring will often enable us to provide system maintenance before a problem leads to excessive downtime or costly repairs we believe this will make LANsultants' long term services more cost-effective for our clients. If you would like to be one of the first to use this system, please contact our office.
